Revised: June 2015

The information in this brochure is available online at http://www.utexas.edu/cola/depts/asianstudies/ and may be printed freely.

This handbook, and the Asian Studies Graduate Program website, reflect changes in effect for the 2013-2015 Graduate Catalog. Every effort has been made to assure the accuracy of the material herein. In the event of discrepancy between printed or web materials and the contents of the official 2013-2015 Graduate Catalog, the Graduate Catalog takes precedence.
Administration and Governance

ROLE OF THE GRADUATE ADVISER
The current Graduate Adviser is Dr. Donald Davis. His office is located in WCH 4.114.

The Graduate Adviser administers the graduate program, is Chair of the Graduate Studies Committee and the Graduate Admissions Committee, and is the program’s principal representative to the Graduate School.

The Adviser assists each student in selecting a faculty mentor and then works with that student and mentor in planning a program of study tailored to every student's individual needs and interests. Students should make appointments to meet with their mentors at least once every semester.

In the latter part of each long semester, the Graduate Adviser meets individually with every student to plan the next semester’s work.

The Graduate Studies Committee sets policy for the graduate program in all matters except admissions. The committee is composed of the Graduate Adviser and several faculty members across campus who teach on Asia.

The Graduate Admissions Committee has responsibility for admission to the graduate program. It is composed of the Graduate Adviser and selected faculty who teach on East and South Asia.

The Graduate Studies Committee must approve any significant change in the Department’s graduate program.

ROLE OF THE GRADUATE COORDINATOR
The Graduate Coordinator is Jennifer Tipton. Her office is in WCH 4.128.

The Graduate Coordinator handles the day-to-day technical aspects of graduate life — adding and dropping courses, finding out rules and regulations, etc. The Coordinator is the first person you should seek help from for any bureaucratic problem.

OMBUDSMAN
The current Ombudsman is Dr. Heather Hindman. Her office is WCH 4.104G.

Asian Studies appoints a professor each year to serve as Ombudsman. The function of the Ombudsman is to assist students with problems they might encounter regarding student-teacher relations, sexual harassment, or other similar non-academic problems within the Department.
Student Responsibilities

The most important responsibility of each student is to be familiar with the degree requirements as set forth in the official publications of the Graduate School and the Asian Studies programs.

General and specific requirements for degrees in the Graduate School may be altered in successive catalogs, but students are bound only by the requirements of the catalog in force at the time of their admission to graduate study. Students may choose to fulfill the requirements of subsequent catalogs, in which case they must fulfill all of those requirements, not part of them. Graduate catalogs may be found online at http://registrar.utexas.edu/catalogs/graduate.

The department's graduate office maintains a paper file for each student. Students may see all material in their files except the confidential letters of recommendation.

EMAIL
Every graduate student must have an email address on file with the Department. Email is considered an official form of communication by the University of Texas at Austin and will be the main means by which the Department notifies students of upcoming events, fellowships, meetings, etc. Information about the free-to-students UT Mail (utexas) email addresses is found online at http://www.utexas.edu/its/email/.

MAILBOXES
Each graduate student has a mailbox located in the hallway of the fifth floor of the WC Hogg building. Students are responsible for checking their boxes occasionally for flyers, notes, and other materials.

WEBSITE
The Department of Asian Studies posts items of interest to students on its homepage, located at http://www.utexas.edu/cola/depts/asianstudies/. Students should be sure to access the site often to stay informed about happenings in the Department. Items of interest include dissertation defenses, speakers, seminars, and updates about students and faculty.

STANDARDS OF CONDUCT
The University's expectations for student conduct are grounded in the University Code of Conduct: "The core values of The University of Texas at Austin are learning, discovery, freedom, leadership, individual opportunity, and responsibility. Each member of the University is expected to uphold these values through integrity, honesty, trust, fairness, and respect toward peers and community."

University students are also expected to uphold the Student Honor Code: "As a student of The University of Texas at Austin, I shall abide by the core values of the University and uphold academic integrity."
Information about UT’s policies on Academic Integrity is located at http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/acint_student.php.

The University’s standards of conduct are described at http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/conduct.php.

Academic Dishonesty and Scholastic Dishonesty
“Academic dishonesty” or “scholastic dishonesty” includes, but is not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, falsifying academic records, misrepresenting facts, and any act designed to give unfair academic advantage to the student (such as, but not limited to, submission of essentially the same written assignment for two classes without the prior permission of the instructor), or the attempt to commit such an act. Information about scholastic dishonesty can be found at http://catalog.utexas.edu/general-information/appendices/appendix-c/student-discipline-and-conduct/ and http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/acint_student.php.

Degree Programs
The Department of Asian Studies offers the following degree programs:

- Master’s of Arts in Asian Studies
- Master’s of Arts in Asian Studies dual-degree programs in conjunction with the LBJ School of Public Affairs
- Master’s of Arts in Asian Studies dual-degree program in conjunction with the Red McCombs School of Business
- Master’s in Asian Cultures and Languages
- PhD in Asian Cultures and Languages

The M.A. programs in Asian Studies (ANS) provide a broad background of knowledge on Asia to students who wish to pursue a career in business, law, non-profit or government work. The M.A. and Ph.D. in Asian Cultures and Languages (ACL) are designed for students who wish to pursue a career in scholarly research and university teaching on Asia.

Students who demonstrate third-year language proficiency before admission to the program may have the language course requirement waived, pending approval of the Graduate Adviser. Please note that the required subject matter will be waived but not the hours.

Asian Studies Master’s students may choose to complete either a traditional thesis or a report for their degree. A thesis is a two-semester project in which the student analyzes or interprets a body of material; a thesis is usually 75 pages in length. A report is a one-semester project during which the student writes a report on a given topic or body of material that s/he has researched; Master’s report should be at least 50 pages in length. Both the thesis and report require the approval of a faculty supervisor and a second reader. The supervisor must be a member of the Graduate Studies Committee.
Master’s in Asian Studies Degree Requirements

Thesis option:
- 12 hours of Asian Studies electives (with not more than 6 in any one discipline, such as literature, religion, visual culture, etc.)
- 3 hours Asian history
- 3 additional in Asian history (preferred) or social studies courses
- 6 hours in advanced Asian language courses (third-year level or beyond)
- 6 hours of Master's Thesis. Thesis is a two semester course.

Report option:
- 15 hours of Asian Studies electives (with not more than 9 in any one discipline, such as literature, religion, visual culture, etc.)
- 3 hours Asian history
- 3 additional in Asian history (preferred) or social studies courses
- 6 hours in advanced Asian language courses (third-year level or beyond)
- 3 hours of Master's Report

Dual Degree Programs
The Department of Asian Studies offers dual degree programs in conjunction with the LBJ School of Public Affairs and the McCombs School of Business. Dual degree programs are structured so that a student can pursue graduate work in two fields and fulfill the requirements of two degrees; in programs leading to two master's degrees, the degrees are awarded simultaneously.

Individual Program of Work
All students have an online Program of Work (degree audit). This document lists all required courses for your degree and all courses you have taken to fulfill those requirements. You may access your web-based Program of Work through UT Direct at https://utdirect.utexas.edu/ogs/gdp/.

Coursework
The majority of the coursework for the Master’s degree should be graduate seminars with substantial content on Asia. Students are encouraged to enroll in graduate seminars with Asian Studies faculty.

At the discretion of the Graduate Adviser, graduate students may take individual instruction conference courses. These courses should not comprise the majority of the student’s coursework and should be on topics that are not offered in organized graduate courses. The student should find a faculty member to supervise the course; the topic of the course should be within the faculty member’s research interests. The grading policy and other requirements are left to the discretion of the instructor. The student and faculty member should complete the graduate conference course agreement form located on the Asian Studies website and submit it to the Graduate Coordinator so that the student may be registered.

A Master’s student in the Department of Asian Studies may count up to nine hours of upper-division undergraduate coursework toward his/her degree. The first number of a course indicates the number of credit hours (e.g., 3, 4, 5). The second number indicates whether the class is lower-division (0 or 1), upper-division (2-7) or graduate (8 or 9). Students may not count lower-division courses toward a graduate degree.

It is permissible for a graduate student to take an upper-division course for graduate credit. This may be necessary if many faculty are on leave and there is a shortage of organized graduate courses. Graduate students enroll in a graduate conference course number and attend all scheduled meetings of the undergraduate class, plus at least 4 additional meetings with the professor outside of regular class meeting times. Graduate students attending undergraduate courses are required to do an additional research paper with bibliography including extra materials not required of undergraduate students. Whether or not other undergraduate requirements are waived (such as exams) is left to the instructor’s discretion. The student and faculty member should complete the Undergraduate Course for Graduate Credit form located on the Asian Studies website and submit it to the Graduate Coordinator so that the student may be registered.

All coursework must be completed within six years.

Grades and Grading

Students must maintain a 3.0 GPA in both departmental courses and courses taken outside the department. Most students receive the grade of A or B in their coursework. The grade of C, which is seldom given, denotes unsatisfactory performance. Any course in which a student earns less than a C will not be counted towards his/her degree.

If a student receives a grade below B- in his/her primary language of study for two consecutive semesters, the student may be dismissed from the program.

A student is expected to complete a course in a single semester. In rare instances, for nonacademic reasons and at the discretion of the instructor, a temporary delay of the final course grade, symbol X, may be recorded. The student must complete the course requirements by the last class day in his or her next long-session semester of enrollment, and the instructor must report a final grade by the end of the grade reporting period in that semester. If these deadlines are not met, the symbol X is converted to the symbol I (permanent incomplete), and the course will not count towards the student’s degree.

 Graduate students have the option of taking up to 20% of their total credit hours for their degree on a credit/no credit basis. For most Master’s students, 20% of the total credit hours is equivalent to six credit hours. A student may not take courses in his/her primary language of study for credit/no credit.

Portfolio Programs at UT-Austin
Portfolio programs are opportunities for students across the campus in any discipline to obtain credentials in a cross-disciplinary academic area of inquiry while they are completing the requirements for a master's or doctor's degree in a particular discipline. A portfolio program usually consists of four thematically related graduate courses and a research presentation; for master's portfolio programs, a practical experience related to the portfolio program may replace the presentation. For a complete listing of portfolio programs available at UT, visit http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/docport/.

Withdrawal and Leave of Absence
If you must drop all of your courses due to an emergency or other unforeseen circumstances, you must complete at Withdrawal Petition and Refund Request Form (available from the Graduate Coordinator). Prior to withdrawing, you should meet with the Graduate Adviser to discuss your situation. Students who withdraw will receive the symbol W instead of a grade in all courses that were in progress for the semester. Further information about withdrawal policies and procedures is available at http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/student_services/academic_policies/withdrawal.html.

Students seeking a Leave of Absence (LOA) should meet with the Graduate Adviser to discuss the circumstances surrounding the leave. Requests for leave are approved on an individual basis and may be granted for a period up to one year. Students must apply for a Leave of Absence prior to the first class day of the semester for which they wish to take leave. Further information about Leave of Absence policies and procedures is available at http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/student_services/academic_policies/leaves.html.

In order to re-enroll as a graduate student after a withdrawal or Leave of Absence, you must apply for readmission at http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/admissions/howtoreadmit.html unless you are absent only for a summer session.

Graduation
During the semester in which students plans to graduate, they must apply online at http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/pdn/index.html in order to graduate.

The deadline for submission of the Master's report or thesis is the last class day of the semester in which the student intends to graduate. Students should submit a completed draft to their supervisors and readers at least two weeks prior to the last class day in order to have adequate time for revisions.

Professional Development
All Asian Studies graduate students are expected to perform professional development. Professional development includes applying for external fellowships and grants, attending and presenting at conferences and workshops, publishing original research, performing outreach at local schools, auditing courses, completing internships and teaching positions. Students should consult with their mentor to determine when they should complete professional development activities and which activities to complete.

Annual Report

All graduate students in Asian Studies must submit an Annual Report in the spring semester. The Annual Report includes information on degree requirements completed and professional development performed. The faculty mentor provides a written evaluation of the student’s progress on the last page of the report. The Graduate Studies Committee reviews all of the Annual Reports and provides students with feedback on their performance over the past academic year. The Annual Report form can be found on the Graduate Student Forms and Links webpage of the Asian Studies website at http://www.utexas.edu/cola/depts/asianstudies/forms-and-links/grad-student.php.

Going Abroad

All Asian Studies graduate students are encouraged to study abroad for a minimum of ten weeks to complete language study or conduct research.

Students going abroad for an academic reason, including language study, conducting research, or attending conferences, must abide by the “Student Travel Policy for International Locations” located at http://world.utexas.edu/abroad/itr. The current policy requires students to register their travel at http://world.utexas.edu/abroad/itr/authorization.

Students who plan to be abroad for one or more long semesters should consult with the International Office about registering for Independent Study and Research (ISR). Students enrolled in ISR may a registration fee that is significantly less than the cost of regular tuition and are considered full-time students. The ISR website is located at http://world.utexas.edu/abroad/programs/isr.

Students should consult the UT Restricted Regions list prior to planning travel. Students traveling to a Restricted Region must obtain prior permission from the International Oversight Committee. Proof of permission is required when a student applies to graduate. Information about Restricted Regions is located at http://world.utexas.edu/risk/restrictedregions.

Institutional Review Board

The IRB is responsible for conducting initial and continuing reviews and providing oversight for all research activities involving the use of human subjects performed on the campus or at any location under the purview of The University of Texas at Austin. Students whose research involves human subjects, including interviews, should consult with the IRB at http://www.utexas.edu/research/rsc/humansubjects/student_research.html.
Funding and Financial Aid
The Department of Asian Studies strives to fund as many graduate students as possible. Priority for funding is given to PhD students and Master’s students in Asian Cultures and Languages who are making progress towards their degrees. Very few Asian Studies Master’s students will receive funding from the Department.

Graduate students may be funded through fellowships; grants; and student employment such as teaching assistant (TA), graduate research assistant (GRA), or assistant instructor (AI) positions. Students are expected to apply for funding from other UT departments and external agencies. More information about funding may be found on the Asian Studies website at http://www.utexas.edu/cola/depts/asianstudies/graduate-programs/financial-aid.php.
