OBJECTIVES

This course introduces students to the modern history of Africa, beginning from the nineteenth century to the present. The course starts with an overview analysis of the great changes of the late nineteenth century, notably the partition of the continent. The twentieth century forms the major concern, divided into two phases: the colonial and post-colonial. In the first phase, the imposition of colonial rule, the changes of colonial rule, and decolonization are the three principal themes. The second phase examines a variety of issues dealing with independence, the management of modern states, and the international environment.

As most of these issues are new to students, books have been carefully selected, and the lectures are organized in such a way that the students may follow. At regular intervals, films and documentaries will be used as illustrations.

At the end of the course, students will

i) be familiar with all the broad themes in the history of modern Africa;

ii) understand the nature of academic production with an emphasis on a conference;

iii) understand some issues in depth through an engagement with research monographs;

iv) think creatively and critically;

v) write well; and

vi) think comparatively by being able to relate Africa to their experiences and other parts of the world.
