Textbooks:

These are the same textbooks used last semester.

- We will also be using interactive multimedia course materials on DVD-ROM entitled Advanced Russian: From Reading to Speaking, by Slava Paperno (with Sophia Lubensky and Irina Odintsova), published by Lexicon Bridge. ISBN: 1-58269-055-3.

  Details are forthcoming on the most cost-effective way for us to purchase this.

I. GENERAL

Course Content: This course is the sixth semester of Russian language instruction. It is a practical advanced all-round language course, based on the communicative-functional approach to language. We have two goals. The first is to develop functional linguistic proficiency in the four basic skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing. The second is to develop practical linguo-cultural competence, encompassing both high and popular culture. The textbook by Rifkin, a systematic review of Russian grammar, serves as a skeleton for the course structure. It will be supplemented by Paperno’s DVD-ROM course, with a plethora of multi-media materials, along with various other authentic materials determined by student interest, to develop listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Special attention will be paid to the contemporary mass media not only as linguistic material, but also as a point of access to Russian culture in its various forms. The course is conducted in Russian. At the end of the course, after three years of formal language instruction (or its equivalent) in Russian, most students should have achieved a proficiency level of 2 on the ILR scale (comparable to Advanced on the ACTFL scale).

Prerequisites: Grade C or higher in Russian 324 here at UT Austin or the equivalent: five semesters of formal study or a demonstrated proficiency level of 1+ on the ILR scale (equivalent to Intermediate-high on the ACTFL scale).

Department policy: Before enrolling for the first time in any Russian language course, a student with any knowledge of the language, however acquired, must take a placement test to determine the course for which they should register. Information on placement tests is available on the Center for Teaching and Learning website (http://www.utexas.edu/academic/ctl/assessment/credit_exam_cp). Contact your instructor for further information.

Course Requirements: You are expected to attend classes regularly, participate actively in class, do all assigned coursework (written, oral, and preparatory), and take all exams. Your daily assignments will be distributed in advance over the course of the semester.

If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to contact your instructor or another student, find out what was covered, and make up the missed work. It is also your responsibility to get any handouts distributed in a class which you do not attend.

In order to do well in this (or any) language class, you must:

- Read this syllabus and conform to the guidelines described here!
• Read all assignment handouts so that you see what is expected of you, both in terms of preparation for the next class and for the near future. Prepare for each class in advance and on time.
• Spend at least two hours of preparation for each hour in the classroom.
• Attend class regularly, participate actively, and take notes.
• Take all exams and give all class presentations as scheduled.
• Learn all of the words and expressions which appear in the vocabulary lists at the end of each unit covered (in the Workbook); these words are utilized in the chapter material and are assumed in the examinations.
• There will be many handouts, so you should have a loose-leaf three-holed binder to collect those handouts, homeworks, and other course materials in a convenient and easily-accessible fashion.

Accommodations for disabilities: Any student with a documented disability (physical or cognitive) who requires academic accommodations should contact the Services for Students with Disabilities area of the Office of the Dean of Students at 471-6259 (voice) or 471-4641 (TTY for users who are deaf or hard of hearing) as soon as possible to request an official letter outlining authorized accommodations.

Course policy on electronic devices:

• Please ensure that your cell phone and any other electronic communication devices are OFF and OUT-OF-SIGHT throughout the class period.
• Laptop computers may be utilized during class, but EXCLUSIVELY for purposes related to the activities of the class that day and ONLY with the permission of the instructor.
• Failure to observe these courtesies will affect your class participation grade.

Scholastic dishonesty. Students are expected to maintain the standards of academic integrity. At a minimum, this means the following (http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/acint_student.php):

• Acknowledge the contributions of other sources to your scholastic efforts;
• Complete your assignments independently unless expressly authorized to seek or obtain assistance in preparing them;
• Follow instructions for assignments and exams, and observe the standards of your academic discipline; and
• Avoid engaging in any form of scholastic dishonesty on behalf of yourself or another student.

Scholastic dishonesty includes unauthorized collaboration, plagiarism, and multiple submission of the same work. The consequences of scholastic dishonesty can be severe, and may include grade-related penalties (possibly a failing grade), suspension, or even expulsion, from the University. Academic dishonesty violations can be resolved by the individual faculty member through a “faculty disposition” process or be referred to Student Judicial Services (SJS) in the Office of the Dean of Students for disciplinary action. For more information on academic integrity and scholastic dishonesty, see the Student Judicial Services website (http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/).

Internet

- In this class we will use Blackboard, a web-based course management system with password-protected access at http://courses.utexas.edu, to distribute course materials and information. Help in using Blackboard is available at the ITS Help Desk at 475-9400, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.
- According to the University policy, it is every student's responsibility to check e-mail on a frequent and regular basis in order to stay current with University-related communications, including coursework. Certain communications may be time-critical. E-mail should be checked daily, but no less frequently than twice per week. It is further the student’s responsibility to keep the University and instructor informed as to changes in e-mail address. The policy is available at http://www.utexas.edu/its/policies/emailnotify.html.

Counseling Services

Student life can be stressful. You should be aware of the many services offered to all of us in the UT community by the University’s Counseling and Mental Health Center (CMHC). See their website for further information: http://cmhc.utexas.edu/. Two particular resources of importance are available at all times:
- If you are concerned about the behavior or well-being of someone else on campus, the Behavior Concerns Advice Line provides a central resource for us to share our concerns: 232-5050 or http://www.utexas.edu/safety/bcal.

II. Grading

The components of the course grade and their relative weights are:
- Three in-class exams: 40%. These exams will be on the following dates:
  o 17 February
  o 31 March
  o 5 May (our last class day)
- Homework assignments: 20%.
  o Homework assignments should be submitted on the day they are due. There is a one-day grace period. Beyond that, it is up to the instructor’s disgression whether to assign credit for a late assignment.
  o Written assignments should be submitted in typed form; it is in your interests to have a permanent copy of your work on your computer. If this presents an inconvenience to you, please speak with the instructor; this requirement may be waived by the instructor for those with good handwriting.
  o In order to received credit, each written assignment must be submitted on a separate full-size sheet of paper (8.5”x11”) identified by the number of the class (2-30) for which it was assigned; this number is provided with the assignment itself.
  o Exercises must be written out in full, not just by providing a single word, even if that is all that is asked for in the exercise. I have to be able to grade the assignment by reading your work without checking back in the textbook for the context of an isolated word. It is in your interests to view the assignment holistically and in context, especially for review purposes, rather than just as a one-word output.
• Class participation: 20%
  o There will be occasional short quizlets in class to ensure that you have mastered small, well-defined chunks of material, per the assignment sheets distributed. They may or not be announced. The result will be incorporated in your class participation grade.
• Cultural project: composition and oral presentation: 10%
• Oral proficiency exam (scheduled individually at the end of the semester): 10%

There is no final in the course.

The result of these calculations will be on a number on a scale of 0-100. Plus/minus grading will apply. This numerical grade will be converted to a letter grade as follows:

\[
\begin{align*}
93 & \leq A < 100 \\
90 & \leq A- < 93 \\
87 & \leq B+ < 90 \\
83 & \leq B < 87 \\
80 & \leq B- < 83 \\
77 & \leq C+ < 80
\end{align*}
\[
\begin{align*}
73 & \leq C < 77 \\
70 & \leq C- < 73 \\
68 & \leq D+ < 69 \\
63 & \leq D < 67 \\
60 & \leq D- < 63 \\
57 & \leq F < 60
\end{align*}

In-class exams cannot be rescheduled or delayed, nor can make-up exams be offered. An Incomplete in the course (grade of X) will be granted only under the direst of circumstances (e.g., an unexpected family or health crisis preventing you from continuing your academic work) and you will be asked to substantiate any such circumstances.

Attendance policy. Regular attendance and active participation in class are expected. Your attendance will be recorded by the instructor. You may miss 3 classes (out of the 28 class meetings) without a direct, automatic penalty. Beyond that, each absence without documented and proper justification will result in a penalty of 3 points (out of 100) on your course grade. That is a substantial penalty, so you should make class attendance a high priority.

These rules will be strictly observed by your instructor.

III. LEARNING RESOURCES

The Department of Slavic and Eurasian Studies, Center for Russian, East European, and Eurasian Studies, and Audio-Visual Library of the General Libraries have extensive collections of recordings which may be checked out for home viewing.

There are vast resources on the Web. Consult your instructor for suggestions.

IV. DISCLAIMER

This syllabus is a good faith statement of the instructor’s plans and objectives at the beginning of the semester. The details here are subject to change. Such changes will be communicated in class and in writing by e-mail in a timely fashion.
