Course Description:

Japan’s modern political history has been punctuated by three “critical junctures” that changed—or promised to change—the face of Japan: the Meiji Restoration of 1868, which sparked a period of rapid political modernization and industrialization; the period of democratization during the Allied Occupation of Japan (1945-52); and the post-1993 era of political change, economic stagnation, and sluggish political-economic reform. Using the first two “critical junctures” as reference points, this course examines the structure and resilience of the institutions and power alignments of the postwar era. What is distinctive about those institutions and alignments? Why is Japan having so much trouble reforming them today? How can we explain the changes that have been introduced over the last decade or so?

In addressing these themes, we will explore a wide range of topics including the political legacies of the prewar political system, the impact of the Occupation on the development of postwar political institutions, the structure and functions of the changing electoral and political party systems, interest group politics, citizen protest and the development of civil society, women’s issues, the government-business relationship and the significance of industrial policy during the postwar rapid economic growth period, the policy-making process, the sources and consequences of political corruption, and ongoing efforts to reform the contemporary political economy. These topics will be discussed from a comparative perspective and with reference to political science concepts and theories.

Assignments:

1. Quizzes: 15%
2. Midterm exam #1 (Feb. 23): 20%
3. Midterm exam #2 (Mar. 29): 25%. Instead of the exam, students may write a 6-8 page research paper on a theme relating to Japanese domestic politics. Topics must be approved by the instructor by Mar. 6. Final papers due at noon on Mar. 29.
4. Final exam (May 15, 2:00-5:00): 40%
Required Readings: The following texts are available for purchase at the University Co-op on Guadalupe:

All additional readings are available under Documents on the Blackboard site for this course.

Class Guidelines:

1. Laptops are not permitted for use in this classroom.
2. Students with disabilities are welcome to request appropriate accommodations. Please contact Services for Students with Disabilities (471-6259) and the instructor for further information.
3. Students guilty of academic dishonesty (ex., cheating on an exam or plagiarizing a paper) will receive a “0” for the assignment in question. No exceptions. Students are strongly urged to refer to the following link from the Dean of Students for an explanation of what plagiarism is and how it can be avoided: http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/scholdis_plagiarism.php.
4. All lectures and discussions, readings, and films will be subject to examination.
5. All quizzes will be administered at 8:00. Make-up quizzes cannot be accommodated. At the end of the semester, your lowest quiz grade will dropped from your total quiz score.
6. You are responsible for keeping up with e-mail correspondence with the instructor, as well as notices and other postings on the Blackboard site for this course.
7. All assignments must be completed on schedule. Only students with officially documented illnesses or military excuses can be exempted from this rule. Late submissions will be penalized 5% per day.
8. PowerPoint presentations are designed to provide you with rough outlines of basic concepts and themes. To do well in this course, you must take detailed notes during lectures and class discussions. Lecture notes and PowerPoint presentations will not be posted on the web.
9. You must take the final exam during the time-slot designated by the university. Don’t make travel arrangements during the exam period until the exam schedule has been finalized!
10. I respectfully ask you to arrive for class on time. Please let me know well in advance of unavoidable absences, late arrivals, and early departures from class.
Grading Policy: We will adopt UT’s new “plus & minus” grading system in this course. The following is a list of letter grades, their corresponding GPA values, and the percentage values that I plan to use for your assignments.
