The Spanish Inquisition operated for three and a half centuries, and became one of the most notorious institutions in history. It is popularly known for its secret trials, its autos-da-fe and burnings at the stake, and its fanatical inquisitors. We will want to explore how well the stereotype fits the reality. But we will ask other questions as well. Why was it established? Why did it survive even when heresy seemed virtually eliminated? What purposes did it serve that allowed it to survive for so long?

Each student will carry out a project “tracing” one (fictitious) personality through the various phases of the inquisitorial process, from the time of arrest (or re-arrest) to the day of the sentencing. By discussing one another’s projects we will get a sense of the great diversity - in time and space, and in motives and aims - of this institution.

REQUIREMENTS

The grade components are as follows: class participation (10% of grade), midterm exam (20% of grade), final exam (20% of grade), and research/writing project resulting in a paper of about 20 pages (50% of grade).

The research project will involve the following. Each student will choose, from a list of fictitious victims of the Inquisition, one “victim,” whose name, date of birth, place of residence, year of arrest, sentence, and date of sentencing will be provided. It will be the student’s task to create a history of this person’s involvement with the Inquisition, on the basis of material learned in class as well as outside reading. A number of books will be placed on reserve in the library for use in this project. You may use your historical imagination, but the unfolding events must be plausible and consistent in light of what we’ve studied.
