Course Description: Lectures, readings, videos, maps and other graphics are used to provide students with a survey of US history from before the European encounter through the Civil War. Students will study significant aspects of the nation’s political, economic, and cultural history and will be challenged to understand the why, how, and so what of this history. You begin with learning about what happened and then proceed to questions of causality and consequences.

Moving from what happened to why or how, and then, to so what students will sharpen their skills in critical thinking. Both exams will include essay questions to encourage students in their written communication skills. Along the way, students will consider some of ethical dilemmas confronted by Americans who lived long ago. Students will examine issues of personal responsibility and social responsibility as they learn about how previous generations understood these responsibilities.

This course carries the flag for Cultural Diversity in the United States. Cultural Diversity courses are designed to increase your familiarity with the variety and richness of the American cultural experience. You should therefore expect a substantial portion of your grade to come from assignments covering the practices, beliefs, and histories of at least one U.S. cultural group that experienced persistent marginalization.

Required Reading: (available at University Coop)
- Joseph Ellis, Founding Brothers: The Revolutionary Generation
- Nancy Cott, The Bonds of Womanhood: Woman’s Sphere in New England, 1780-1835
- Harriet Beecher Stowe, Uncle Tom’s Cabin

Course Requirements, Grading, and Class Policies

Students are responsible for all information presented in class and for all assigned reading.

Grading: I will use the plus-minus grading system.
Final grades will be determined on the basis of the following rubric. Please note: to ensure fairness, all numbers are absolute, and will not be rounded up or down at any stage. Thus a B- will be inclusive of all scores of 80.000 through 83.999. The University does not recognize the grade of A+.

A = 94-100
A- = 90-93
B+ = 87-89
B = 84-86
B- = 80-83
C+ = 77-79
C = 74-76
C- = 70-73
D+ = 67-69
D = 64-66
D- = 60-63
F = 0-60
The University’s plus/minus web site is:
http://www.utexas.edu/provost/planning/plus-minus/

Graded Work:
- 1st Midterm Exam: Monday, 10/1, in class. (22.5% of course grade)
- 2nd Midterm Exam: Monday, 11/5, in class. (22.5% of course grade)
- 2 pop quizzes: 5% each (10% of course grade)
- Final Exam: Wednesday, 12/12, 9 am – 12 noon. (35% of course grade)

Make-up Exams: You are expected to take all tests at the scheduled time. Only students who are unable to take the test on the scheduled day will be allowed to take a make-up exam. Students who miss an exam because of illness of other circumstances beyond their control and who wish to take a make-up exam, must make arrangements with me within one week after the missed exam.

Questions or Complaints about grades:
If you have questions or complaints about your exam or essay grades, you must speak with the Teaching Assistant who graded your exam. You are welcome to speak with Dr. Seaholm after you have met with your TA. Also, you should present any questions or complaints about the first exam before the second exam. You should address any questions about the second exam before the final exam.

Scholastic Dishonesty (aka cheating): You may not refer to books, notes, electronic devices, or other students during exams. Any student caught cheating (giving or receiving unauthorized assistance during an exam) will be referred to Student Judicial Services in the Dean of Students’ office. Subsequent to due process, students caught cheating on exams will receive a grade of F in the course.

University Policy on Scholastic Dishonesty:
Students who violate University rules on scholastic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure in the course and/or dismissal from the University. Since such dishonesty harms the individual, all students, and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced. For further information please visit the Student Judicial Services Web site: http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs.

Services for Students with Disabilities: Special testing arrangements or other accommodations recommended by Services for Students with Disabilities will, of course, be honored. Students must talk with me to discuss these arrangements at least one week before scheduled exams.

BLACKBOARD: The lecture schedule, reading assignments, announcements, reading guides, and study guides will be posted on Blackboard. You can access Blackboard, using your UT EID, through UT Direct. Study guides will be posted on Blackboard one week before each exam.

You should regularly check Blackboard for announcements.

Religious Holidays: University policy states that you should notify me of your expected absence at least fourteen days prior to the date of the observance of a religious holy day. If you miss a class due to observance of a religious holy day, please ask one of your classmates to let you make a copy of their lecture notes. If you have difficulty getting lecture notes for the day or days missed, let me know. If you miss an exam or a pop quiz because of observance of a religious holy day, you will be allowed to take a make-up exam.
