COURSE DESCRIPTION:
This course proposes two primary objectives rooted in past and present literary representations of slavery. Thematizing "the trope of the talking book," (Henry Louis Gates, Jr.'s The Signifying Monkey), the course first examines seminal slave narratives, e.g. the literature of the enslaved as discursive strategies, from self-actualization and resistance to early formations of a black literary discourse. The course then explores how slavery is (re)written, controversially in a presentist context by contemporary authors, particularly in historical fiction or neo-slave narratives that seek to restore agency and reclaim subjectivity for enslaved individuals. Ultimately, the course engages larger issues about the different venues that writings about slavery offer for academic disciplines, literary instruction and/or pedagogy.

REQUIRED READINGS:
Saidiya Hartman, Lose Your Mother.
Suzan-Lori Parks, The America Play and Other Works.
Fred D'Aguiar, Feeding the Ghosts.
Edward P. Jones, The Known World.
Course Pak (Speedway on Dobie).

Course Requirements:
.75 Three critical essays (25% each; 4-5 pages per essay, typed, double spaced)
.15 Response papers, based on course reading (1-2 pages); reading quizzes; class participation
.10 Oral presentations, accompanied by one-page written report

Prerequisites: Rhetoric and Writing 306 and English 316K or their equivalents (e.g. T C 603A and 603B), and three additional semester hours of lower-division coursework in either English or rhetoric and writing. No exceptions.
English Major Area: II. Literary Period or Survey

*The course contains select readings from African American literature since the Harlem Renaissance. Three lecture hours a week for one semester. The subject of each class meeting may be determined from the assigned reading for the day (see course schedule). The instructor retains the right to vary this syllabus.

Attendance:
Regular attendance is required. More than four absences will be sufficient grounds for failure in the course. The four allowed absences will include illness, deaths of relatives, and other emergencies. If you are more than five minutes late or leave before class ends (without permission), you will be counted absent for that class. You are responsible for all work covered in your absence.

Class Policies:
Absolutely no make-up for reading quizzes. In exchange, the lowest quize grade will be dropped. Except under extreme emergencies, and then only with the permission of the professor, late assignments will not be accepted without a penalty. Students are expected to turn in all required assignments on the agreed upon due date at the beginning of class. Papers turned in during or after class on the due day will be considered late. A five point deduction will be applied for every late day. Use the MLA (Modern Language Association) Stylebook for all papers. Type papers on white, 8.5" x 11" paper, using one side only. Bind pages with a paper clip.

Special Accommodations for Students with a Disability:
Students with disabilities may request appropriate academic accommodations from the Division of Diversity and Community Engagement, Services for Students with Disabilities, 471-6259. Please notify the professor of any special accommodations that you may need prior to the end of the second week of class.

Policy on Religious Observance:
A student who is absent from a class or examination due to the observance of a religious holy day may complete the work missed within a reasonable time after the absence if proper notice has been given. Notice must be given at least fourteen days prior to the classes scheduled on dates the student will be absent. For religious holy days that fall within the first two weeks of the semester, notice should be given on the first day of the semester.

Grading Scale:
Final grades will be determined on the basis of the following rubric. Please note that to ensure fairness, all numbers are absolute, and will not be rounded up or down at any stage. Thus, a B- will be inclusive of all scores of 80.000 through 83.999. The University does not recognize the grade of A+.

A (94–100); A- (90–93); B+ (87–89); B (84–86); B- (80–83);
C+ (77–79); C (74–76); C- (70–73); D+ (67–69); D (64–66);
