Plan II World Lit Ambassadors Needed!

Reply by: ASAP

Share your Plan II pride! We seek first-year students to act as escorts for prospective applicants (high school juniors and seniors). World Lit ambassadors take visitors from Plan II admission information sessions to selected World Literature classes, and following the class, escort the visitors back to the NEW Plan II Office in the CLA Building! We ask ambassadors to arrive at the CLA Conference Room by 10:40 AM to ensure everyone arrives to the class on time. To volunteer, please contact P2SA Recruitment Chairs Kelsey McKinney (mckinney.kelsey@gmail.com) or (972) 743.9390.

Plan II Honors has MOVED!!
CLA 2.102

We have moved! Plan II Honors headquarters is now located on the second floor of the new Liberal Arts building (CLA). That building is on the east side of the Student Activities Center (SAC), just across Waller Creek from the Texas Exes building. CLA and the SAC are, in fact, connected by a skyway on the fourth floor. (see construction map: http://www.utexas.edu/operations/construction/maps/q4.html). The Plan II Honors office is on the northwest corner of the second floor. Our new space is BEAUTIFUL, with a larger common area and a spiffy new student computer lab. This new space is your new home. We want all Plan II students to always remember that wherever Plan II lives, you are the heart of the program. We look forward to kicking off the spring semester in our new home. The new CLA building itself should be a hub for all Liberal Arts students, with lots of student lounge and study space.

The Nocturnal Literary Review is a new literary journal built to share the work of Plan II students. Non-fiction, fiction, and poetry submissions will all be accepted. Students with work they are proud of or with work they would like honest feedback on are encouraged to submit. Details are available at http://www.nocturnalliterary.wordpress.com. The deadline for submissions is Monday, February 18th.

If you have questions please contact Kelsey McKinney at mckinney.kelsey@gmail.com or (972) 743.9390.

Participate in Research Week 2013!
Abstract deadline: Friday, February 22
Event held: April 15-19
The School of Undergraduate Studies and the Senate of College Councils are excited to invite students, faculty, and staff to attend Research Week 2013, the sixth annual university-wide celebration of undergraduate research and creative activity at UT Austin.

Research Week 2013 will take place April 15-19; this year’s events include college and departmental poster presentations, performances, special seminars on research-related topics, and the Longhorn Research Bazaar—a festive event designed to highlight research resources and opportunities for students from all majors.

Would you like to present your work during Research Week 2013? Research Week is a great opportunity for you to share your research or creative work with others. Presenting your work at a poster session, symposium, or exhibit gives you the chance to receive feedback on your work, and it gives you an impressive credential as you’re applying to graduate schools or jobs. Students may participate in the poster session or exhibition of student creative work at the Longhorn Research Bazaar on April 17, 2013. The deadline to submit an abstract for the Longhorn Research Bazaar is February 22, 2013.

Students who are interested in participating in the Bazaar may submit an abstract or description of their creative project for consideration through the Research Week website at http://www.utexas.edu/ugs/researchweek/get-involved. Students who plan to present a research poster should take a free poster-making class through the Office of Undergraduate Research (if they have not already done so through their academic programs). Students may view the schedule and register for a poster class by visiting the OUR website: http://www.utexas.edu/ugs/our/students/poster-workshops.

If students have any questions about Research Week 2013, submitting an abstract, or presenting their work, please have them contact the Office of Undergraduate Research at 471-5949 or uresearch@austin.utexas.edu.

The Texas Undergraduate Research Journal wants you!
Deadline: Friday, February 22
Your research, that is! The Texas Undergraduate Research Journal is looking for unique, insightful research papers written by brilliant, motivated undergraduate students. Submissions can come from any person in any field, and they can be the result of individual initiative, class assignments, or anything else. If you wrote it, the URJ wants it!

As one of the most prestigious journals of its kind in the nation, the URJ provides talented undergraduate students with an opportunity to be published in the academic community. In addition to the recognition that comes with publication, the most outstanding submission will receive a $200 prize; the runner-up, $100. Additionally, every article selected will appear in this year’s issue of the URJ.

For further information, as well as a look at archived issues of the URJ, go to http://texasuri.com/. Submissions can be made here until February 22, 2013.

The URJ looks forward to reading your submissions!

Career & Learning Presentations for February

Choosing a Career
Monday, February 4 • 5–6 p.m. • JES A115
Choosing a career can be a difficult process, and sometimes getting started is the hardest part. This program highlights ways to learn more about yourself, how to do effective career research, and introduces the many UT resources available as you explore your career options.

Time & Procrastination
Tuesday, February 5 • 5-6 p.m. • JES A309
Tuesday, February 26 • 5-6 p.m. • JES A309
We all have the same amount of time in a day, but how we allocate it can make the difference between “I’m 3 hours late to the exam” versus “I’ve got plenty of time for that.” We’ll show you how to better use your time, and help you find a balance between work and play.

Finding an Internship
Tuesday, February 5 • 5:30–6:30 p.m. • JES A115
Are you considering an internship? Get the facts first. This presentation will highlight the importance of internships, how they can help in your career exploration, and introduce you to the process of finding an internship.

Study Smarter, Not Harder
Wednesday, February 6 • 5-6 p.m. • JES A309

Wednesday, February 27 • 5-6 p.m. • JES A309

Studying is not a single act. This program helps you learn about the steps of the study cycle, and discover how to engage in meaningful, active learning to achieve the results you want in class.

Writing an Effective Resume
Monday, February 11 • 5-6 p.m. • JES A115

Applying for a competitive major, internship, or part-time job? Learn resume tips and strategies on how to best highlight your skills.

History Department spring essay contest
Due Friday, February 1

Have you ever wanted to publish your work? The History Department at The University of Texas at Austin is holding monthly writing contests for excellent short essays about great history books and films.

Students may submit essays each month, by the first of each month (February 1, March 1, April 1, May 1). Writing essays will be posted on Not Even Past.

Open to all UT undergraduates!

Essays should be approximately 500 words in length and can be about any work of history, including historical fiction. Book essays should tell readers what the book is about and why they should read it. Film essays must address the ways history is used or abused in the film.

Submissions and questions should be emailed to Henry Wienczek, Assistant Editor, Not Even Past, at: hwiencek@gmail.com

New Economics Master’s Program
Apply by Friday, February 15

There is a new one-year Master’s program at UT-Austin. The program for a terminal Master’s degree with a 10-month, 10-course curriculum, is specially designed for students seeking rigorous training in economic theory and analytical methods.

An undergraduate degree in Economics is not required for applicants. A strong quantitative background, along with some exposure to economics courses, is expected.

The program is suitable for students with any of the following goals: (i) Qualify for jobs in the private or government sector that require greater expertise in economic, analytical, and statistical tools than provided by an undergraduate degree; (ii) Obtain the background in economics and mathematics required to gain admission to a high-quality economics PhD program; or, (iii) Study economics as a complementary field to another area of expertise (law, political science, public health, statistics, energy, etc.).

Additional information about the program

Paid opportunity - become a COLA FIG Mentor!

Are you interested in making a positive impact on first-year students? Do you want to help others avoid some of the mistakes you made during your first semester? Are you excited about guiding students through the challenges and adventures of college life? If the answer is YES to all of the above, you should apply to be a COLA FIG Mentor for Fall 2013!

The COLA FIG Peer Mentor position offers exceptional students the opportunity to be both leaders on campus and mentors to new students participating in the FIG Program. Mentors share their knowledge about the many opportunities at UT Austin and serve as guides to campus and academic resources. Mentors assist in co-facilitating a one hour seminar once a week for the fall semester and are responsible for organizing educational and social activities to help students become better acquainted with each other, faculty members and the University. This is paid position, requiring up to 50 hours of commitment over the course of the Fall 2013 semester.

For application information and instructions, please send your name and EID to: Christine Fisher at cfisher@austin.utexas.edu

REU Rice Summer 2013 Program
Apply by Thursday, February 28

The Population Research Center at The University of Texas at Austin, in collaboration with the Department of Sociology, is hosting the Research Experience for Undergraduates (REU) program in Race, Ethnicity, and the Demography of Crime and Punishment for the summer of 2013. This eight-week summer program, which is held during June and July and is funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation (but also with significant contributions from the UT Population Research Center, Department of Sociology, and College of Liberal Arts), offers eight very selective upper-division undergraduate students from both UT-Austin and from around the country the opportunity to study social demography through course work and a mentored research experience with senior PRC graduate students. The program pays for tuition, room and board, and computer expenses. REU students also receive a $4,000 stipend for participation in the program, which allows the selected students to fully concentrate on their REU experience over the 2-month program. Students participate in a 3-hour summer course during the first half of the program, then dedicate the second half of the program to their own projects in collaboration with their graduate student mentor and under the overall guidance of the faculty co-directors, David Kirk and Keith Robinson. Student papers are then presented at the fall meeting of the American Society of Criminology. This program is specifically geared toward students with junior standing who are seriously thinking about attending graduate school in the social sciences and, particularly, in sociology or demography. The 2013 summer REU Program application deadline is FEBRUARY 28, 2013. See http://www.utexas.edu/colapcenters/prc/training-and-fellowships/undergraduate.php for details about the REU program and the program application, as well as information about other research and training programs of the UT Population Research Center.

Harry Ransom Center Summer 2013 internships
Apply by: March 15

The Harry Ransom Center, a humanities research library and museum at The University of Texas at Austin, announces its 2013 summer internships. The Center will select six undergraduate interns: four University of Texas at Austin students and two students from other accredited colleges or universities. These 14-hour-per-week positions will provide undergraduates with experience in the nature and operations of a major humanities research center. Students will be paid hourly and receive approximately $1,500 for the summer, contingent on hours actually worked. The Creekmore and Adele Fath Charitable Foundation has provided generous funding for these internships.

Selected interns will choose from a variety of opportunities within the Center, including working with exhibitions, public affairs, marketing, archives, and a variety of curatorial departments (these may include art, film, photography, performing arts, rare books, and manuscripts). Interns will begin on June 10, 2013 and work until August 16, 2013.
The experience gained by interns will benefit them in their own research projects, in possible graduate studies, and in careers in such fields as librarianship, museum studies, archival or curatorial work, as well as public affairs, marketing, and public programming. Interested undergraduates can find more information about the internships, including a list of past projects here: http://www.hrc.utexas.edu/about/internships/undergraduate/

Eligibility: University of Texas undergraduates must have been enrolled for at least six hours during the spring 2013 semester, with plans to enroll in the fall or they must be enrolled for at least three credit hours during the summer 2013 session. Undergraduates from other academic institutions must have been enrolled at their institution during the spring 2013 semester for at least six semester hours or must be enrolled in their institution for three semester hours during the summer. Students from other academic institutions will need to provide proof of spring (or summer) enrollment and classification before being appointed to the position.

To Apply: Applicants should submit a one-page résumé, a cover letter from the student describing his/her interests and qualifications, and two letters of recommendation from faculty members or others familiar with the student's professional qualifications. Letters of recommendation should be addressed to Danielle Brune Sigler, Assistant Director and Curator for Academic Programs, and should be submitted in sealed, signed envelopes together with all application materials. Complete applications, including letters of recommendation, must be received by March 15 for consideration. Late submissions will not be considered.

USEFUL MISCELLANY

About Plan2News
Plan2News is published on Tuesdays and Fridays during the semester for students currently registered in Plan II and others associated with Plan II who send their e-mail addresses to planinewsletter@austin.utexas.edu. News items for the letter include announcements from the Plan II office and the Plan II Student Association and performances and exhibits by Plan II students.

Read the newsletter to learn about courses, registration, advising, job opportunities and special events.

Submitting to Plan2News
Please keep in mind that although Plan2News enjoys a substantial and diverse readership, its circulation is still relatively small. It should not be relied upon as the sole advertisement for a position or an event. To reach a wider audience, please use university-wide electronic and paper advertising outlets.

Personal and political announcements will not be published in Plan2News. Job and internships announcements must be sent to the Liberal Arts Career Services Office, after which they may be considered for publication in the newsletter.

To place a news item in Plan2News, you must do the following:
• Type your news item in the body of an e-mail to planinewsletter@austin.utexas.edu.
• In the subject line, write “Plan2News” exactly.
• Give the name of a contact person with phone number or e-mail address.
• Provide an activity date or a deadline.
• Do not use “we” or “I.” Please write your submission in third person.
• Write in complete sentences and use correct grammar.
• News items will run until your deadline or through two issues of the newsletter if no deadline is provided.
• The text of submitted newsletter items (including job and internship postings) must be fewer than 150 words, not including headline and contact information. Please edit your entries to this length before submission. An overly lengthy entry will be returned to its sender and will not appear until this standard is met.
• Send your news item to planiinewsletter@austin.utexas.edu no later than 2 p.m. on Monday (for the Tuesday letter) or 2 p.m. on Thursday (for the Friday letter). The 2 p.m. deadline is final. Do not send your message to any other address. No one else can approve news items for inclusion in the Plan II newsletter and no other address will be used to receive entries.
