I. Course Description and Objectives:
This course introduces students to early French literary culture from the Middle Ages to the Revolution. A significant portion of the course is devoted to developing the fundamentals of writing literary analysis in French of poetry, theater, and literary prose, through short writing assignments, in-class writing workshops, and guided revisions. The final unit introduces students briefly to French literary criticism through Roland Barthes's Sur Racine.

Prerequisites: FR 320E or the equivalent.

Global Cultures Flag: This course carries the Global Cultures flag. Global Cultures courses are designed to increase your familiarity with cultural groups outside the United States. You should therefore expect a substantial portion of your grade to come from assignments covering the practices, beliefs, and histories of at least one non-U.S. cultural group, past or present.

II. Course Materials
All other course readings will be posted on Blackboard

III. Course Work:
Grading Policy:
Three short papers (drafts) 30%
Three short papers (final) 30%
Two exams 30%
One oral presentation 10%

Course Requirements

Short papers:
You will write three short analytic papers (2-3 pages) in French over the course of the semester. Each paper will require you to implement specialized vocabulary and techniques of analysis specific to poetry, theater, and literary prose, respectively. Drafts (each worth 10% of the final grade) will be subject to in-class writing workshops (ateliers d’écriture) where writing lectures, peer editing exercises, and one-on-one meetings with the instructor will provide some direction as you make revisions for your final draft (each worth another 10% of your final grade).

Exams:
Exams will contain an ID section (in which you will be asked to explain the significance and relevance of key concepts, vocabulary, and literary citations from class) and a short essay section (in which you will be asked to discuss a thematic question—such as love, home, nation, family, self—in relationship to two or more readings from our class). Exam responses can be written in English or French.

Presentations:
You will give one short presentation (5 minutes) in French over the course of the semester on a single text or an assigned section of a text for that day. Presentations should bring attention to unique features of your selected reading and should raise at least one interesting question to generate class discussion.

IV. Class and University Policies

Attendance Policy:
Daily attendance is an integral part of your participation grade. In addition to losing participation points for any absence, your final grade will be lowered five percent points for every absence beyond your third. Also please take note of UT’s official policy regarding the observation of religious holy days:
By UT Austin policy, you must notify me of your pending absence at least fourteen days prior to the date of observance of a religious holy day. If you must miss a class, an examination, a work assignment, or a project in order to observe a religious holy day, I will give you an opportunity to complete the missed work within a reasonable time after the absence.

Use of Blackboard
In this class, I use Blackboard, a Web-based course management system with password-protected access at http://courses.utexas.edu, to distribute some course materials. You can find support in using Blackboard at the ITS Help Desk at 475-9400, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., so plan accordingly.

Academic Integrity
University of Texas Honor Code
The core values of The University of Texas at Austin are learning, discovery, freedom, leadership, individual opportunity, and responsibility. Each member of the university is expected to uphold these values through integrity, honesty, trust, fairness, and respect toward peers and community. Each student in this course is expected to abide by the University of Texas Honor Code.

Policy on Scholastic Dishonesty
Students who violate University rules on scholastic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure in the course and/or dismissal from the University. Since such dishonesty harms the individual, all students, and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced. For further information, visit the Student Judicial Services web site http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/. This site offers excellent resources on how to cite sources and paraphrase. Copying materials from other people or from sources on the Internet, for example, or having your work edited by somebody else, constitutes a fraudulent submission. Any work submitted by a student in this course for academic credit will be the student’s own work and will acknowledge others’ work as appropriate (e.g., citing sources). Any plagiarized work will result in a failing course grade.

V. Other University Notices and Policies

Use of E-mail for Official Correspondence to Students
It is the student’s responsibility to keep the University informed as to changes in his or her e-mail address. Students are expected to check e-mail on a frequent and regular basis in order to stay current with University-related communications, recognizing that certain communications may be time-critical. It is recommended that e-mail be checked daily, but at a minimum, twice per week. The complete text of this policy and instructions for updating your e-mail address are available at http://www.utexas.edu/its/policies/emailnotify.html.

Documented Disability Statement
The University of Texas at Austin provides upon request appropriate academic accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. If you require special accommodations, you must obtain a letter that documents your disability from the Services for Students with Disabilities area of the Division of Diversity and Community Engagement (471-6259 voice or 471-4641 TTY for users who are deaf or hard of hearing). Present the letter to me at the beginning of the semester so we can discuss the accommodations you need. No later than five business days before an exam, you should remind me of any testing accommodations you will need. For more information, visit http://www.utexas.edu/diversity/ddce/ssp/.

Behavior Concerns Advice Line (BCAL)
If you are worried about someone who is acting differently, you may use the Behavior Concerns Advice Line to discuss by phone your concerns about another individual’s behavior. This service is provided through a partnership among the Office of the Dean of Students, the Counseling and Mental Health Center (CMHC), the Employee Assistance Program (EAP), and The University of Texas Police Department (UTPD). Call 512-232-5050 or visit http://www.utexas.edu/safety/bcal.

Critical Dates
Please note the following critical dates for class administration:
— September 4: Last day of the official add/drop period; after this date, changes in registration require the approval of the department chair and usually the student’s dean.
— November 6: Last day an undergraduate student may, with the dean’s approval, withdraw from the University or drop a class except for urgent and substantiated, nonacademic reasons. Last day a student may change registration in a class to or from the pass/fail or credit/no credit basis.
