Global Cultures Flag
This course carries the Global Cultures flag. Global Cultures courses are designed to increase your familiarity with cultural groups outside the United States. You should therefore expect a substantial portion of your grade to come from assignments covering the practices, beliefs, and histories of at least one non-U.S. cultural group, past or present.

Under construction until Jan 12, 2013

GRADING AND EXAMINATIONS
You should complete the weekly reading assignments and prepare for exams by going over your notes on both lectures, readings and films. If puzzled by the fact that the lectures and the readings are complementary rather than purely mutually reinforcing or redundant, click here. This link also explains the rationale for what at first appears to be a large number of books and films, from which the individual is required to read or watch only a few.

The course grade will be based primarily on a midterm (about 31%) and a final examination (about 62%).
An example of the format of the midterm exam can be found here. Another consideration will be class attendance. Attendance is expected, and missing two classes can lower one's average by as much as a half grade. There will be a short book report, based on a book from the list at this link: book report (due last class day)
Exams will contain both objective and essay questions (with an edge to the objective).
The final exam will be longer than the midterm and comprehensive (i.e. it will include material tested on the midterm as well as from the rest of the semester), and will count twice as much.
The final exam will be held at the officially scheduled time and place (Monday, May 14, 9:00-12:00 noon, UTC 4.112). Click here for a sample of the final exam.

As an aid to study, can print out this Mexico map and locate each indigenous society spoken of in the lectures on it, at least putting it in the correct state. It would also be helpful to locate some of the rivers, lakes, towns, and archaeological sites, as well as volcanoes and islands. Here is a list you might make use of for both the indigenous groups and the other features.

If you want to explore a topic in more depth, or make up for a missed class, e-mail me for a list of of supplementary readings pertaining to a given week.

--- The following information comes from official UT policies --

Please, read carefully

Academic Integrity

Each student in this course is expected to abide by the University Code of Academic Integrity. No plagiarized work will be accepted. Sources consulted from books, journals, or web pages should be acknowledged. Any work submitted by a student in this course for academic credit will be the student's own work. Papers bought online or otherwise plagiarized will receive a zero.

You are encouraged to study together and to discuss concepts covered in lecture and sessions. However, this permissible cooperation should never involve one student having possession of a copy of all or part of work done by someone else, in the form of an e mail, an e-mail attachment file, a diskette, or a hard copy.

Should copying occur, both the student who copied work from another student and the student who gave material to be copied will both automatically receive a zero for the assignment. Penalty for violation of this Code can also be extended to include failure of the course and University disciplinary action. [During examinations, you must do your own work. Talking or discussion, comparing notes, and copying from others are not permitted during examinations. Any such behavior will result in failure of the exam, and may lead to failure of the course and University disciplinary action.]

Accommodations for students with disabilities

In compliance with the UT Austin policy and equal access laws, I am available to discuss appropriate academic accommodations that may be required for student with disabilities. Requests for academic accommodations are to be made during the first three weeks of the semester, except for unusual circumstances, so arrangements can be made. Students who require special accommodations need to get a letter that documents the disability from the Services for Students with Disabilities area of the Office of the Dean of Students (471-6259- voice or 471-4641 – TTY for users who are deaf or hard of hearing). This letter should be presented to the instructor in each course at the beginning of the semester and accommodations needed should be discussed at that time. Five business days before an exam the student should remind the instructor of any testing accommodations that will be needed. See Web site below for more information: http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/ssa/providing.php

University Electronic Mail Notification Policy

(Use of E-mail for Official Correspondence to Students)

All students should become familiar with the University's official e-mail student notification policy. It is the student's responsibility to keep the University informed as to changes in e-mail address. It is recommended that e-mail be checked daily, but at a minimum, twice per week. The complete text of this policy and instructions for updating your e-mail address are available at http://www.utexas.edu/its/policies/emailnotify.html.

In this course e-mail will be used to communicate with students. You are responsible for checking your e-mail regularly for class announcements.

The University of Texas Honor Code
The core values of The University of Texas at Austin are learning, discovery, freedom, leadership, individual opportunity, and responsibility. Each member of the University is expected to uphold these values through integrity, honesty, trust, fairness, and respect toward peers and community.

Religious Holidays

It is the policy of The University of Texas at Austin that you must notify each of your instructors at least fourteen days prior to the classes scheduled on dates you will be absent to observe a religious holy day. If you miss an examination, work assignment, or other project due to the observance of a religious holyday you will be given an opportunity to complete the work missed within a reasonable time after the absence.

The instructor reserves the right to amend this syllabus
