

Institute for Historical Studies Fellows, 2012-13

Visiting Research Fellows

Edward J. Kolla

Georgetown University School of Foreign Service in Qatar
Legal Justifications of Territorial Annexations during the French Revolution

Christopher J. Lee

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
The Indian Ocean as a "Zone of Peace": Nuclear Ambition and Non-Alignment in the Third World, 1955-1979

Stephen Porter

University of Cincinnati
A Benevolent Empire? Refugees, NGOs, and the American State

Internal Research Fellows

Daina Ramey Berry

The Price for their Pound of Flesh: The Value of Human Property

Jorge Canizares-Esguerra

The Bible in the Spanish Monarchy, 1492-1830

Huiyin Li

Geopolitics, Development Strategy, and Microfoundations: Maoist China in Comparative Perspective

Karl Miller

Sound Investments: Amateur Musicians Making American Pop

Denise Spellberg

U.S. Treaties, Their Problematic Translations, and U.S. Diplomatic Relations with North Africa: 18th-century Precedents and their 21st-century Implications for the Historiography of an Allegedly Eternal Islamic Terrorism

Visiting Research Associates

Shigeru Akita

Professor of British Imperial History and Global History, Graduate School of Letters, Osaka University
U.S. Aid Policies to India in the late 1950s and 1960s

Enrique G. Ramirez

Ph.D. candidate, Princeton University

Architecture, Aeronautics, and Air Resistance, 1881-1914

Aristides Ramos Penuela

Ph.D. candidate, The University of the Andes

The Elusive Unity of the Diverse: Formation the Santander Region, 1821-1910

Bruno Silva

Ph.D. candidate, Fluminense Federal University

Project title forthcoming

Woodruff D. Smith

Professor Emeritus, University of Massachusetts, Boston

A Study of Respectability as a Global Cultural Pattern

Sam C. Vong

Ph.D. candidate, Yale University

Compassionate Politics: Care and Suffering in the History of Southeast Asian Refugee Migrations, 1960s-1980s