

Institute for Historical Studies Fellows, 2013-14

Visiting Research Fellows

Carel Bertram

San Francisco State University

A Generation of Pilgrims: Fragmented by Trauma, Descendants of Armenians from Anatolia travel to Turkey in search of Wholeness

Leslie M. Harris

Emory University

Leaving New Orleans: A Personal Urban History

Ronen Steinberg

Michigan State University

The Afterlives of the Terror: Dealing with the Legacies of Violence in Post-Revolutionary France

Dominic Yang

Postdoctoral Fellow, Ph.D 2012, University of British Columbia

(Future: Assistant Professor, University of Missouri-Columbia)

Writing the Exodus, Writing Trauma: Forced Relocation, Return, and the Politics of Chinese Mainlander Identity Formation in Taiwan

Internal Research Fellows

Benjamin Brower

The Force of Empire: Violence and Colonialism in Algeria

David Crew

Navigating the 'German Catastrophe' of 1945: How a war photographer and his pictures survived Total Defeat

Laurie B. Green

The Discovery of Hunger in America: The Politics of Race, Poverty, and Malnutrition

Tracie M. Matysik

Trauma and Affect: Spinozist Interventions in Modern European Theorizations of the Secular

Libby Nutting, Ph.D. Candidate in History

Andalusian Identity in the Early Modern Mediterranean: Morisco Families and Survival from Spain to Morocco, 1492-1700

Emilio Zamora

José de la Luz Sáenz, A Re-Examination of a Historical Figure from Texas

Visiting Research Associates

Joseph E. Hower

Postdoctoral Scholar, Ph.D 2013

Georgetown University

Jerry Wurf, the Rise of AFSCME, and the Fate of Labor Liberalism, 1947-1981

Carla Rahn Phillips

Union Pacific Professor Emerita in Comparative Early Modern History

University of Minnesota

William D. Phillips, Jr

Professor Emeritus of History

University of Minnesota

Lydia Pyne

Writer and Historian

Famous Fossils, Hidden Histories

Derek Sayer

Professor of History

Lancaster University

History of 20th Century Prague

Woodruff D. Smith

Professor Emeritus of History

University of Massachusetts, Boston

A Study of Respectability as a Global Cultural Pattern