1. The Broccoli Project Presents: Mr Marmalade by: Noah Haidle

   Mr. Marmalade is a savage dark comedy that is focused on one evening in the life of a four year old girl named Lucy. Struggling with getting along in the real world full of disappointment, Lucy conjures up the best imaginary friend a little girl could ever dream of: one that doesn't have much time for her, not to mention he beats up his personal assistant, is full of false promises, and finds himself in and out of rehab on a regular basis. As Lucy's imaginary world crumbles around her, she finds one real friend to hold onto, but will it be enough to get her through the night?

Performances will be held in the Utopia Theater in the School of Social Work (1925 San Jacinto Blvd, Corner of San Jacinto & E. 20 1/2 street) on 10/29, 10/30, 11/5, and 11/7 at 7:30 p.m. and on 10/31 and 11/1 at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $5 at the door.

Plan II receptionists are an integral part of the Plan II team with primary responsibilities that include greeting visitors, answering and routing phone calls, providing clerical assistance to Plan II staff, and ensuring that the Plan II suite stays neat and tidy. This position is open only to Plan II students who are available to work the TTH 1-5 shift in its entirety. 4. Voltaire’s Cinema Event

   Voltaire's Cinema presents Matt Valentine with a screening and discussion of Ridley Scott's 1979 sci-fi classic, Alien. Ridley Scott's 1979 film Alien stands apart from the several sequels (each helmed by a different director): neither an action blockbuster nor a typical horror film, the original Alien is perhaps the most successful marriage of science fiction and suspense. The film has been the subject of a surprising volume of scholarly criticism, referenced not only in film theory but also examined through the lenses of feminism, art history and comparative literature. Now thirty years old, the film's Academy Award-winning visual effects (especially the alien creature, designed by artist H.R. Giger) have aged well -- the film still looks and feels like a believable dystopian future, and has avoided much of the campiness that dates other sci-fi films of this vintage.

Why: Michael Caine + War Film = Awesome Wednesday!

On January 22, 1879, 140 British soldiers took on a force of over 4,000 Zulus in the Battle of Rorke's Drift. Though vastly outnumbered, the British achieved a tactical victory. After the battle, eleven soldiers were awarded the Victoria Cross, holding the record for the most a regiment received for a single battle in British military history.

As it was released in a time of decolonization, Zulu provides a 1960's perspective on colonial warfare. Zulu stars Michael Caine in his first leading role and was directed by blacklisted American screenwriter Cy Enfield. The British claim that it is one of the best war films ever made.
