

ABOUT THE BULLOCK MUSEUM

The state's official history museum, the Bullock Texas State History Museum immerses visitors in Texas history and culture through a variety of exhibitions, films, and programs. The Bullock Museum is a dynamic, non-collecting educational institution accredited by the American Alliance of Museums. Nearly 8 million visitors from around the state and all over the world have explored Texas history and culture at the Bullock Texas State History Museum since it opened in 2001.

ABOUT THE INTERNSHIP

Potential internships are available to support the research, planning, and design of upcoming exhibitions and programs. The intern will work as part of a larger planning team of curators, designers, registrars, technicians, educators, graphic designers, web & digital media producers, and marketing professionals. Internships will be tailored to the specific interests of the student, with major emphasis placed on their preferred area of museum studies. Time will be spent with all departments to introduce interns to the museum profession.

The internship will prepare students for a more in-depth internship or study of the museum profession by introducing them to the variety of skills needed and careers available within the museum field.
