THE SHAKESPEARE AT WINEDALE PROGRAM

Shakespeare at Winedale is an academic course offered through the College of Liberal Arts at The University of Texas at Austin. Students pursuing undergraduate or graduate degrees in any academic specialty and at any college or university in the United States are eligible to apply.

Students selected for the program during the spring semester months register for both summer terms. During the first six weeks (roughly May 15 - June 30) they study independently, preparing themselves through careful, critical, readings of the play texts; and through concentration on words and characterization; through inquiries into dramatic history, criticism, and scholarship.

The second phase is best known as Shakespeare at Winedale. For two months students become active members of a small farming community: Winedale. Each day of that period, they study and perform Shakespeare's plays in an old hay barn, a "great Globe" in itself. They examine Shakespeare not in the traditional classroom manner but through performance. Hence their explorations are immediate, intense, and lively encounters with the texts, each other, the personae, the language, and with their striving selves - for that within which passeth show.
